Help Poor Families Break Out of the Cycle of Poverty

Under Hidayya Foundation's Self Employment Program - our Animal Farming Project helps poor families break out of the cycle of poverty by allowing them to farm chickens for eggs and meat, and goats for milk and meat.

Poultry Farming: It costs $50 to give feeding supplies along with five chickens and a rooster, or a flock of 25 chicks to start-up a small poultry farm.

Goat Farming: It costs $220 for a pair of goats for a family to get started.
